Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Challenger et al (U.S. 2005/0028080).

As per claim 1, Challenger teaches a computerized content management system comprising: a receiving queue for receiving content (paragraph 0009); a content staging unit, coupled to the receiving queue, and including an operating system to validate the content for format consistency and verify its accuracy and process the content from a first format to a second format defined by the content management system (paragraphs 0008, 0037, 0038, 0044, 0045); and a content storage unit, coupled to the content staging unit, and including an operating system to receive the validated and verified content for use by an application utilized within a computerized content management system (paragraphs 0008, 0010).

As per claim 2, Challenger further teaches that the content staging unit, while validating the content, further checks for description file information and provides such description file information, if missing (0044, 0045).

As per claim 3, Challenger further teaches that the content staging unit provides identity of the description file after checking (0044, 0045).

As per claim 4, Challenger further teaches that the content includes a content item having a search hierarchy and the staging unit cleanses the content item to ensure the content item and its search hierarchy are reliably linked (0024 – 0029).

As per claim 5, Challenger further teaches that the content staging unit determines the search hierarchy of the content item and assigns the content item to the identified hierarchy (0044, 0045).

As per claim 6, Challenger further teaches that the content staging unit checks whether meta-data associated with the content is consistent with a previously defined format for the system (0044, 0045).

As per claim 7, Challenger further teaches comprising a content error zone, coupled to the content staging unit, to receive any content item failing validation (0044, 0045).

As per claim 8, Challenger further teaches that the content staging unit notifies the content provider if the content failed validation (0044, 0045).

As per claim 9, Challenger further teaches that the content staging unit maintains a prior valid version of the content for access by the user should the content fail validation (0036, 0037).

As per claim 10, Challenger teaches a method of controlling content accessed by an end user within a shared content environment, the method comprising: receiving at least one content item from a content provider (0008); checking for description file information (0044); backfilling information within the description file if missing (0045); determining if the content item is valid (0044, 0045); copying the content item with an associated description file within an archive

(0010); importing the description file to a content holding database (0044, 0045); and sending valid content to a holding zone (0036, 0037).

As per claim 11, Challenger teaches a method of providing error control of content accessed by an end user within a shared content environment, the method comprising: receiving at least one content item from a content provider with the intent of making available the content item to an end user (0044, 0045); validating the content item is error-free (0044, 0045); and making the valid content item available to the content provider for access to the end-user (0044, 0045).

As per claim 12, Challenger further teaches that the validating step comprises cleansing the content item to ensure the content item and its search hierarchy are reliably linked (0044, 0045).

As per claim 13, Challenger further teaches that the validating step comprises archiving the content item (0010).

As per claim 14, Challenger further teaches that that validating step comprises: determining the hierarchy of the content item; and assigning the content item to the identified hierarchy (0044, 0045).

As per claim 15, Challenger further teaches that the validating step comprises checking meta-data associated with the content item is consistent with a previously defined format for the system (0044, 0045).

As per claim 16, Challenger further teaches moving the content item to an error zone upon lack of validation (0044, 0045).

As per claim 17, Challenger further teaches notifying the content provider that the content item failed validation (0044, 0045).

As per claim 18, Challenger further teaches maintaining a prior valid version of the content item for access by the user should the content item fail validation (0044, 0045).
